Simplify stocktaking

You don't need to guesstimate during stock taking ever again; instead use the Marsden K-100 Keg Scale to accurately weigh your inventory.

Easily determine how many pints are left in a keg to decide whether more need to be ordered with the help of the easy to use K-100 keg weighing scale, used in breweries and pubs throughout the country.

Relieve stress at busy times

There's nothing worse than getting an hour into the bank holiday rush and realising that a keg needs to be changed, this can be alleviated with the K-100.

The K-100 makes it simple to monitor the amount remaining in a keg, which is a task that can be carried out before a shift starts. This ensures that there is no down time when a barrel has to be changed.

Flexible indicator

The indicator on the K-100 is completely flexible, thanks to its long lead. Plus, it's magnetic, so it can be fixed almost anywhere.

The coiled cable allows for simple manoeuvrability, meaning the display can be fixed high above the scale where it can easily be seen without repeated bending or leaning around a keg.
