What is the V-250?

The V-250 is a large veterinary scale with a capacity of 250kg. This scale is has a super-sized stainless steel base which is suitable for weighing even the largest of animals.

An optional rubber mat is available, which simply lays over the top of the stainless steel platter, to ensure that animals are safe and secure whilst being weighed on the V-250.

Easy to clean

To ensure that longevity of this animal weighing scale, we designed this model to be have a stainless steel construction, meaning it can be cleaned easily.

This means that animals can stand on the scale when they are wet and muddy, with no detrimental effect to the weighing scale and it can be wiped down by the veterinary staff and it is good to go.

Heavy duty

We understand here at Marsden that you when you are weighing large animals, you want the equipment to not only be accurate, but be long-lasting and reliable.

The V-250 has been constructed to the highest quality and that ensures that the device will be long-lasting and reliable for many years to come, regardless of if it is been used at home or the surgery.
